From the Editor's Desk . . .

ALUMNI ARE INQUIRING frequently "How large will Ohio University become?" and "Will it ever return to its prewar size?"

To neither question can one give a definite answer, although "No" seems to be a rather safe response to the latter.

There are authorities on the local campus who believe that the enrollment here has not yet reached its peak—that next year may see a registration of some 6,000 students, topping the present figure by around 500. This will not include the approximately 1,000 additional students expected to be enrolled in the three branches.

As for the ultimate size of the student body it is believed, and hoped, by many that it will "settle down" to about 4,500, a figure just 1,000 larger than the prewar record enrollment.

This year saw an increase of 3.9 per cent over last year in the number of veterans on the nation's campuses, and an increase of 21.8 per cent in the enrollment of non-veterans. There are indications, however, that the big backlog of men whose college educations were delayed by the war is being whittled down.

The number of high school graduates who are continuing their educations at an advanced level is increasing so steadily that a replacement of the veterans by these first-time enrollees seems likely to keep college classrooms crowded for many years to come. This year's freshman figure, on a national basis, is 80 per cent above the highest prewar level.

And of course if there should be a business depression veterans who have not yet availed themselves of the educational benefits of the G.I. Bill or who have left school without exhausting the "credit" to their accounts would probably come in overwhelming numbers to the universities.

Although elbowed out by veterans and held down by quotas, surveys show that there are more women in college today than ever before.

There is every indication, therefore, that although enrollments will decrease as the G.I. benefits run out and the mass of veterans are graduated, enrollments in the colleges and universities of the United States will not for many years, if ever, be "normal" again.

"ALL WHO KNEW him admired and loved him. He had a warm, friendly personality and always was interested in each one of us who had been in the Troy schools during his superintendency."

These words are a part of the tribute paid Dr. Charles W. Cookson (see page 4) by Miss Mary Ellen Howe, '16, in reporting the former's death to the Alumni Office.

Dr. Cookson possessed a ready wit and a happy manner. His smile was infectious and his words always gracious. He loved people, and, in turn, was loved by them. Humble, he dedicated his book, "After Fifty Years—A Pleasant Memory," to his family and "to the thousands of teachers who have made success possible and to the fifty thousand or more children whose lives it was a sacred privilege to help in building."

In writing and speaking of his many years as an associate, friend, counselor, advocate, leader and teacher of children and young people, Dr. Cookson often said that "there never was a bad boy or girl." Of course, he admitted, some of them did things which he wished they had not done, but he strongly held to the belief that none was bad.

Two years ago Dr. Cookson attended the fiftieth anniversary reunion of his class at Ohio University. The visit afforded the alumni secretary-editor an opportunity to become better acquainted with the veteran educator than any previous contact. It is not difficult to understand why the civic and educational leaders of Troy believe that their fellow townsman, with his cheerful disposition and generous philosophy, will be greatly missed in their community.

Moore's Busy Stores

IT WAS a little over a decade ago—April 9, 1937, to be exact—that the first of the well-known Moore's "busy stores" was opened in Newark, Ohio. Today there is a chain of 91 stores located in the three-state area of Ohio, Indiana, and West Virginia.

The founder and head of this large chain of stores (see advertisement on back page) is William S. Moore, 26, whose untiring energy and keen business sense are in large measure responsible for the rapid growth of the organization.

Upon graduating from Ohio University, Mr. Moore, whose home was in Wilkinsburg, Pa., became associated with the Scripps-Howard newspapers in Pittsburgh and Philadelphia. A few years later he left the newspaper business to join the Dean-Phipps automotive stores, operating in Pennsylvania and southern New York.

In 1937, Mr. Moore decided to go into business for himself and chose the state of Ohio for his venture.

With a group of young men in Scranton, Pa., he opened a map of Ohio, closed his eyes and placed a pencil point on the map. The spot was Lancaster, where it was decided to set up headquarters.

He and a friend, L. G. Pratt, motored to Lancaster to select a warehouse and store location.

Unusually high rentals proved prohibitive, however, and, disappointed, they gave up the idea of starting in Lancaster.

They visited other towns in Ohio where they likewise met with disappointments in the way of high rentals.

Stopping in Newark for lunch one day, they made the usual inquiries. They were referred to Styron-Beggs, manufacturing druggists, who owned a large building near the center of the city. The building was available, the rental satisfactory, and so a deal was made. A suitable store location was also secured, and Newark became the home office of Moore's and the Newark store, the Number One store of the present large chain.

Ten stores were opened in 1937, and thirteen more were added during the four years following. With the outbreak of World War II, expansion was of necessity curtailed.

On Apr. 6, 1945, however, with the organization in its eighth year, a real expansion program was launched with the opening of a Moore's store in New Lexington. Before the year's end another thirteen stores had been opened.

It was late in 1945 that Mr. Moore decided to extend the organization's activities to the state of Indiana. In the following February the first Moore's store in the Hoosier state was opened at Mishawaka.

A total of 13 stores now comprise the Indiana division. Other location leases have been signed, however, and these stores will be opened as rapidly as possible.

Last year saw a total of 36 new stores added to the roster, nine of them in Columbus. The current year, 1947, has been marked by an entry into West Virginia. The grand total, as previously indicated, now stands at 91.

William S. Moore

An interesting sidelight on new store openings is the fact that during the ten years of the organization's existence every new store has been opened on a Friday.

General offices of the Moore's chain are located in Newark, where there are also three large warehouses with a total of 120,000 sq. ft. of floor space. Another warehouse, with floor space totaling 80,000 sq. ft., is located in Kokomo, Indiana. The latter warehouse serves the Indiana stores exclusively.

Flying is the hobby of the head man of William S. Moore, Inc. He flies his own 4-passenger Stinson for both business and pleasure, and has more than 750 flying hours to his credit.

On Oct. 2, 1926, Mr. Moore married Miss Miriam Musgrave of Wilkinsburg, who graduated from Ohio University in 1928. Mrs. Moore is active in Girl Scout work and is a member of the board of directors of the Licking County Area. During the war she served as a member of the American Red Cross Motor Corps. The Moores have a 15-year-old son, William Shields Moore, III.

Associated with Mr. Moore are four other Ohioans.

Dallas F. Farmer, 30, who has been with the company for ten years, is general manager of Moore's Associate Stores. A three-letter man in football, he still has a keen interest, as a spectator, in the sport. In 1931

Outstanding Educator Claimed By Death At Advanced Age

Death, on Nov. 14, 1947, claimed Dr. Charles W. Cookson, holder of four Ohio University degrees, at his home in Troy. He was 86 years of age.

Prominent throughout the state as a lecturer, educator, and institute worker, Dr. Cookson also was the author of a book, "After 50 Years," dealing with his years as a teacher and school superintendent. He was associated with the Redpath Chautauqua Bureau for many years and was one of its most popular speakers.

Of Scotch-Irish ancestry, he was born in Perry County in 1861. Before entering Ohio University he attended Fultonham Academy in Muskingum County and Wooster College. At Ohio University he earned the A.B. and B.Ped. degrees in 1895, the A.M. degree in 1907, and in 1915 was awarded the honorary degree of Doctor of Pedagogy.

Dr. Cookson was superintendent of the Troy schools from 1906 to 1919. In the latter year he became superintendent of the Franklin County schools, holding the position for five and a half years when he accepted the superintendency of the Urbana schools. Retiring from the Urbana position and school administration generally in 1937, he and Mrs. Cookson returned to Troy to make their home.

Attached to the Community Staff of Ohio State University and associated with federal agencies, he continued lecturing on occasion up to the final year of his life.

Dr. Cookson married Miss Madge Davis of Shawnee, and he and Mrs. Cookson celebrated their golden wedding anniversary three years ago. A son, Col. Forrest Cookson, is a military attache at the U. S. Legation in Wellington, New Zealand. A daughter, Mrs. Ernestine Cookson Milner, is a member of the faculty of Guilford College (N. Car.), of which her husband is president.

Credit for Photographs

Credit will hereafter be given all Ohio University student photographers for pictures used in "The Ohio Alumnus." Approaching, and often equalling, professional standards in their picture making as a result of training in the university's high-ranking photography department, student cameramen appreciate and deserve recognition for their work.

In the current issue acknowledgments are made to the following for the pictures indicated:

Cover page—Arthur Bean, Jr., Cambridge, photographer for O. U. News Bureau.

A recalcitrant and badly placed (because of the season) sun made the securing of a good cover page picture impossible on the day assigned for the project. The editor feels that it is only fair to report that Photographer Bean was working against odds imposed by the weatherman and the laws of nature.

Moore's Busy Stores

he married Miss Florence E. Moore, an Ohio University classmate and a sister of the chain store president. Mr. and Mrs. Farmer have a daughter, Miriam, 12 years of age.

Mrs. Charles Huddy (Ruth Eberle, '33) is personnel director of Moore's. A former high school teacher, she joined the organization in 1941. A daughter, Patricia Lou, is enrolled as a sophomore in Ohio University.

Robert V. Donald, '30x, and Jess E. Livingston, '49x, are staffers in the stock control department.

Ohioan Advances Again In New York Central System

A high official of the New York Central System announced on September 1 the appointment of Dwight A. Fawcett, '13, 2-yr., as general manager of the New York Central Railroad at Cincinnati, with jurisdiction over the Big Four District, the Peoria & Eastern Railway, and the Louisville & Jeffersonville Bridge

Dwight A. Fawcett

& Railroad. The new manager's offices are in the Big Four Building, 230 E. Ninth St., Cincinnati.

Mr. Fawcett, a native of Rushsylvania, entered the service of the Cleveland, Cincinnati, Chicago & St. Louis Ry. (now the Big Four Division of the N.Y.C.) as a clerk in 1908. He served in various capacities in the operating department at Terre Haute and Indianapolis, Ind., and Springfield, Ohio, until 1939, when he became assistant superintendent at Springfield.

In 1943, he was advanced to the superintendency in the Ohio city, and a year later was named assistant to the general manager at Cincinnati. He was promoted to assistant general manager at Indianapolis in 1945, and in 1946 was advanced to manager of freight transportation, with headquarters in New York City, the position he held at the time of his recent promotion.

Mr. Fawcett married Miss Hazel Winter, '16x, and is the father of a son, Dwight Winter Fawcett, now 20 years of age.

Author Lectures on Faculty Series

ONLY by a "resurgence of mysticism, nourishing good will and served by science," can the human race be brought through the extremely dangerous demoralization it is now experiencing, believes Charles Allen Smart, Ohio University's writer-in-residence.

Talking on "Mysticism Today" in the first of the 1947-48 faculty lecture series, Mr. Smart said he was not at all cheerful about our life-time, or about the next century or two, but he said he was "irrationally cheerful" about a later outcome. His pessimism about the present day is because of the slowness and difficulty of the mystic's individual progress and of the spreading of his attitudes to others.

The author of the Book-of-the-Month selection, "R.F.D.," and of the recently published novel, "Sassafras Hill," put his audience of faculty members, students and townspeople at ease by saying that for the understanding of mysticism, knowledge of its history and its philosophical problems is not necessary, and can be a positive handicap.

The lecture was given on Dec. 3 in the auditorium of the new Chemistry and Research Building. Other lectures scheduled for the series are "Human Relations and Science" by Dr. George W. Starcher, dean of University College, Jan. 7; "Musical Virtuosity in the Mid-Twentieth Century" by Paul Fontaine, associate professor of piano; and "Our Natural Heritage, the Forest," by Dr. A. H. Blickle, associate professor of botany. The last two talks will be during the second semester on dates to be announced.

Mr. Smart explained that the term mysticism, as he used it, does not mean something mysterious and obscure. Mysticism is the conscious pursuit of a "pure, selfless and sceptical awareness," he stated.

In discussing the relation of mysticism to the Christian theologies and churches of the present time, the lecturer expressed the opinion that the churches will find unity and found a world religion only if they find and emphasize their area of agreement, which is in mysticism.

The speaker outlined the probable effect on economics, family life, education and politics if the mystic's attitude were to become more general.

"The mystic sees work as a matter of how you exercise yourself and pass your time, and sees no good excuse for working at all except for fun," Mr. Smart declared.

He believes a general resurgence of mysticism could act as a slowly revolutionary force by making people more careful in choosing their work and more brave in looking for happier work.

"On love and the family," the speaker said, "I have only a few guesses to hazard. One is that I should think the mystical attitude would result in the taking of romantic passion with a certain detachment and lightness that would in turn result in making divorce more casual than it is now, if it could be so, and less frequent."

The mystic has nothing especially new to add on the ancient problem of education, Smart asserted, but he feels that if a knowledge of the arts, the natural sciences and philosophy do not come first, before a knowledge of how to earn a living, they probably will never come, and the individual will remain a barbarian.

In politics, the lecturer declared, the mystic is moved by a desire "to attain pure compassionate and disinterested understanding, and hence emphasizes friendliness served by knowledge rather than theory backed by personal emotion."

As Writer-in-Residence, Mr. Smart has brought added distinction to the Ohio University campus for the past two years. He is the author of various articles in Harper's Magazine, The Yale Review, and other magazines. Among his books are "New England Holiday," "The Brass Cannon," "Roscommon," "Wild Geese and How To Chase Them," "An Informal Discussion of Living as an Art," and "Sassafras Hill." His autobiographical book, "R.F.D.," was a dual selection by the Book of the Month Club. It was also published in England by the Oxford University Press.

The faculty lecture series is intended to bring to the faculty, students, and community an opportunity to benefit from the scholarly work of the faculty of Ohio University. Recognition of scholarly activities on its campus is an important stimulus to the intellectual life of any university. The vitalizing effect of the lectures of distinguished visitors is obvious. It is the purpose of this lecture series to draw from outstanding members of the faculty the same type of inspiration which is received from visiting lecturers.

The lectures this year are a continuation of a series begun in 1945. They are in no sense intended to be broadly popular, although they are general enough to engage the attention of persons whose interests lie beyond the speaker's special field.

Former Congressman Appointed

A. D. "Dave" Baumhart, 31, A.M. '32, has been named to membership on the Ohio Development and Publicity Commission.

Mr. Baumhart, now with the Owens-Corning Fiberglas Corp. in Toledo, as a state senator in 1938 introduced legislation to create this commission which seeks to attract new industries, cooperate with others already in the state, and to promote and publicize vacation land areas.

After service in the state senate Mr. Baumhart went to Washington, D.C., as congressman from his district. He resigned from the national body to enter the navy, from which he was discharged in 1946 with the rank of lieutenant commander.

On and About the Campus . . .

THE Annual Christmas Convocation was enjoyed by a student audience that packed Alumni Memorial Auditorium on December 15. Preceded by chimes music and the group singing of four familiar carols, the feature of the program was a thirteenth century Miracle Play presented by members of the dramatics department with the combined men's and women's glee clubs providing background music which closed with the Hallelujah Chorus from Handel's "Messiah." The play, "The Benedikl-heuren Miracle Play," translated from the German, was directed by M. W. Tillson, instructor in dramatic art and speech, and produced by Winifren Lenihan, of New York City, visiting actress. Authentic costumes and effective stage lighting contributed much to the success of the production.

THE CAROL singing program, traditionally sponsored by the Student Council and in the past sung from the west portico of Alumni Memorial Auditorium, had a new and thrilling setting this year. Held on the eve of the departure of the students for the Christmas holidays, the carols were sung from in front of the newly-restored Cutler Hall by the Men's Glee Club, under the direction of Prof. Philip L. Peterson, and eight fraternity glee clubs. In each window in the front of Cutler Hall and in each front and side window of Wilson and McGuffey Halls there was a lighted candle. More than a thousand students, faculty members, and townspersons gathered in front of this candlelit area to enjoy the carols and to join in the concluding numbers.

DR. HIRAM ROY WILSON, '96, A.M. '97, professor emeritus of English, was the speaker at the Phi Beta Kappa initiation dinner at Hotel Berry on December 17. Dr. Carl A. Frey, '25, is president of the Ohio University chapter of this national honorary society for the recognition of scholarship. The new initiates, all undergraduates, are: Jean Dow, Athens; William Youngman, Tiltonsville; Nancy Quackenbush, Berca; William Marshall, Columbus; Ronald Bambeck, Canton; Betty J. Francis, Portsmouth; Ronald Calendine, Stockport; Margaret Sayles, Clyde; and Charles Knapp, Caldwell, N. J.

Sylvia Magnusson—R.O.T.C.'s Honorary Colonel

Ohio University's seventh annual Military Ball held December 6 in the Men's Gym. Miss Magnusson's escort for the "caping" ceremony was Cadet Colonel John M. Nolan, Bowers-ton senior. Caroline Mitchell, Portsmouth, Anne Baker, Dayton, and Joan Frederick, Marion, were chosen to represent the first, second, and third battalions, respectively.

DEAN EVAN R. COLLINS of the College of Education and 17 Ohio University students were initiated into Kappa Delta Pi, national honorary society, on December 9. In addition to a high scholastic standing, a person must possess qualities of leadership and intend to enter the teaching profession in order to be eligible for membership in Kappa Delta Pi. The 16 undergraduates and one graduate student initiated are: George Joachim and John Kirkpatrick, Athens; Gaynell Baker, Shady-side; Ruth Bruss, Sewickley, Pa.; Marian Malham, Warren; Doris Phillips, Toledo; Margaret Redlin, University Heights; Robert Stivers, Pomeroy; Bernadine Bower, Dennison; Donna Burton, Lakewood; Carl Campbell, Cambridge; Esther McQuain, Portsmouth; and Edward Schott, Anthony DiBasio, Theresa Basilone, and Dorothy Niedhammer, Cleveland. Mrs. Victor Goedicke, Athens, graduate assistant in human relations, was the graduate student named.

TWO Ohio University alumnae, very successful in their fields, have returned to the campus this fall to participate in university programs. On October 26, Louise Rose, '43, appeared in concert as guest soloist with the University Symphony Orchestra. Miss Rose who holds a Hallgarten Award, is studying with Mme. Quena Mario, former Metropolitan opera singer, at the Juilliard School of Music in New York City. The Ohio University Women's League brought back to the campus for its annual Leaders' Rally on November 15, Pegge Farmer, '35, Dayton, who has become outstanding in the field of monodrama and pantomime. Miss Farmer presented a play written by herself.

PETITIONS requesting construction of a new Student Center have been placed in circulation on the campus by the Student Council with the hope of securing a total of 5,000 undergraduate signatures. The petitions, addressed to the board of trustees of the university, ask for an additional assessment of $5.00 per semester per student as an activity fee to raise funds for the construction of the building. A similar plan was approved by the students in 1938 when they urged that a new building be erected on the site of the present Student Center at a cost of some $250,000. Funds which then were sought from the WPA were refused by Washington authorities. While no blueprints of the proposed building have been drawn it is expected that the new structure would cost more than a million dollars and would cover the site of the present Student Center as well as university properties to the west and north.

AMONG recent university convocation speakers have been President John S. Kieffer of St. John's College, Annapolis, Md., who spoke on "An Experiment in Education," explaining the purposes and curriculum of St. John's, the only college in the country offering a four-year non-elective liberal arts course; and Lieut. Col. Perry M. Thomas, chief of the photographic engineering section for the atomic bomb tests at Bikini, who discussed atomic energy, the effects of atomic bombing, and the possible peacetime uses of atomic energy.

DR. AND MRS. VICTOR WHITEHOUSE entertained members of the International Group at a buffet supper at their home on November 25. France, China, Hawaii, Jamaica, Puerto Rico, Iraq, Turkey, Syria, Trinidad, and Panama Canal Zone were represented at the party. Dr. Whitehouse, coordinator of veterans affairs and professor of Spanish, is advisor to the group. The Whitehouses were assisted by Dr. and Mrs. E. Herndon Hudson, both of whom speak French and Arabic. Dr. Hudson is director of the University Health Service.

MISS WINIFRED LENIHAN of New York City is spending six weeks on the Ohio University campus as a visiting actress, lecturing and working with students in dramatics. During her professional stage career Miss Lenihan created the role of Saint Joan in George Bernard Shaw's play of the same name. She has retired from the stage but frequently appears on radio programs, and writes for radio. Prominent in Theatre Guild productions for many years, she made her stage debut in "The Betrothal" in 1918. Other well-known plays in which she has appeared are: "The Detour," "The Dover Road," "Will Shakespeare," "The Failures," and "Major Barbara." Miss Lenihan is a former director of New York's Theatre Guild School of Acting.

ATURKEY DINNER to end all turkey dinners is the annual football feast tendered the members of the varsity and freshman football teams by the Athletic Department each year. This year's affair, held in the Howard Hall dining room, December 11, and attended by 140 grid-ders and guests, was no exception. As toastmaster, Prof. C. N. McKinnon presented the coaching staff, headed by Harold E. Wise, and President Baker. Footballs used in the three games won this year were presented to the men who acted as captains in these games—Ed Zednick (Ohio Northern), Gene Ruskowski (Butler), and Chris Stefan (Xavier). Each freshman and varsity player received a green and white knit tie as a gift from President Baker.

THE newly-landscaped grounds at the rear of the Sigma Theta Gamma fraternity house on Park Place were dedicated on November 23 as a "living memorial" to the 11 members of the chapter who lost their lives in World War II. Shrubs and trees planted this fall are expected to lend beauty to the grounds with the coming of spring. Chief participants in the dedication ceremony were President John C. Baker of Ohio University; the Reverend Sydney J. Browne, rector of the Church of the Good Shepherd (Episcopal), Athens, one of the two surviving chaplains of the seven who made the D-Day landing in France; members of the Sigma Theta Gamma glee club led by Robert Scheel, Lorain; and the chapter president, Don Fahnestock, West Englewood, N. J., a war veteran. Left to right in front of the fireplace (see picture) are Prof. W. H. Fenzel, '18, who represented the alumni of the chapter, and the Reverend Browne. Back of these the first three men are Prof. R. F. Beckert, '23, President Baker, and Mr. Fahnestock. Alumni Secretary Clark E. Williams was a guest and a representative of the alumni of the entire university.

On a large bronze plaque on the stair-landing between the first and second floors of the fraternity home are to be found the names of the chapter's World War II dead: Thomas R. Barry, Alexander Ellerman, III, Kenneth H. Flath, Robert B. Helms, Francis J. Higdon, Roy F. Klopfenstine, Philip A. Nelson, Richard P. Overmier, Frederick W. Payne, II, Thomas C. Postle, and Edward L. Winston. The names of two World War I casualties, George L. Sherman and Wendell S. Watkins, also appear on the plaque.

WHILE attending the national convention of Sigma Delta Chi, journalism fraternity, in Washington, D. C., last month, Robert E. Schweitz, South Euclid junior and representative of the Ohio University chapter, had the interesting experience of participating in a White House press conference held by President Harry S. Truman and another conference in the Senate Office Building held by Ohio's senior senator, Robert A. Taft. President Truman closed his conference with a gesture toward the chair behind his desk and a comment that he hoped none of the visiting journalism fraternity men had ambitions to sit there.

Death Claims Cincinnati Banker and Civic Leader

Arthur L. Moler, '10, 2-yr., vice president of the Fifth Third Union Trust Co., Cincinnati, died in Christ Hospital, Nov. 4, as the result of a cerebral hemorrhage.

Mr. Moler was born in Albany, Ohio, and attended Ohio University and New York University. From 1913 to 1916 he was employed in the State Auditor's Office in Columbus, and in the latter year became associated with the Union Trust Company in Cleveland, rising to an assistant vice presidency.

Arthur L. Moler

Leaving Cleveland in 1933, Mr. Moler became associated with the Cincinnati concern as credit manager. He became assistant vice president in 1936, and vice president in 1938.

A World War I veteran, he served as an infantry officer overseas and remained with the U. S. Food Administration after the signing of the armistice. He was a past president of the Sons of the American Revolution and had served as state treasurer of the organization for 10 years.

In San Francisco recently, Mr. Moler was elected president of the Robert Morris Associates, national organization of bank credit men. He was one of the founders of the Cincinnati Association of Credit Men, and was a member of the Ohio Society of Certified Public Accountants and the National Association of Cost Accountants.

Prominently identified with civic, fraternal, and church organizations, he was also a bulwark in Ohio University alumni affairs in the Queen City, having served as president of the Cincinnati chapter.

Mr. Moler is survived by his widow, Mrs. Florence Randall Moler; a daughter, Mary Jane, a student at Ohio Wesleyan University; and a son, Arthur, who is a senior in the University of Cincinnati College of Medicine. He was a brother of Harley E. Moler, '17, Athens, and William G. Moler, '27, Columbus.

Carl Roberts Heads Committee To Organize Health Program

Carl H. Roberts, '27 (see picture on page 16), is chairman of a committee composed of nine Ohio University faculty men and women which has assumed responsibility for organizing an 18-county area in south-eastern Ohio for participation in a three-year health education program.

Mr. Roberts, an instructor and supervising critic in social studies in Athens High School for 20 years, joined the university staff this fall as assistant professor of education.

Ohio University is one of six schools in the state which are co-operating in a health program made possible by a grant of $85,400 to the state from the W. K. Kellogg Foundation of Battle Creek, Mich. The other schools are the remaining state tax-supported universities plus the University of Cincinnati.

Public schools in the Ohio University area, as in the other areas, will be asked to indicate what assistance they want from the university in the field of health education and personal visits will be made to the schools and communities on the basis of their requests.

On the campus, students preparing to teach will be given special instruction in health education methods.

Besides Professor Roberts, members of the local committee are: O. C. Bird, director of the Division of Physical Welfare; Dr. Vivian Roberts, director of the School of Home Economics; Dr. E. Herndon Hudson, director of the University Health Service; Dr. Frederick Kreckler, professor of zoology; Dr. E. A. Taylor, professor of sociology; Dean Evan R. Collins of the College of Education; Joseph Trepp, associate professor of physical welfare; and Emmet Rowles, '20, associate professor of physiology.

Columbus School Man Elected Head of Ohio Teachers Group

Ivan R. Amerine, '20, head of the science department in Mound Junior High School, Columbus, was elected president of the Central Ohio Teachers' Association at the two-day meeting held in the state capital in October.

A member of the Mound school staff since 1925, he was assistant principal of the senior and junior high schools in Ambridge, Pa., before locating in Columbus.

Mr. Amerine has been active in professional organization work for many years. He was president of the Columbus Teachers Federation for eight years, and a member of the executive committee of the Ohio Education Association for five years. He is now vice president of the National Education Association and holds membership in both the board of directors and the executive committee of the N.E.A.

The Columbus school man married Miss Bernice Fish, '17, 2-yr., whom he met at Ohio University and who died three years ago. He has four children, a son and three daughters.

Dr. E. B. Smith, professor of government at Ohio University, is one of a group of authorities on local government who has been asked to submit suggestions on home rule and a reorganization of the District of Columbia government.

Another Report on Cutler Program

UNREPORTED in last month's Cutler Hall Rededication story were such interesting features of the program as the luncheon for special guests, the window displays in local business houses, the gift from General Charles G. Dawes (see picture), and the loan exhibit of the Metropolitan Art Museum.

Sunday Luncheon

Governor Thomas J. Herbert and his sister, Miss Elizabeth Herbert, '22, Cleveland, were guests of honor at the Rededication Day Luncheon in Lindley Hall. Other honor guests included State Director of Education Clyde Hissong and Mrs. Hissong, Columbus, and a score of the descendants of Manasseh Cutler, many of them accompanied by members of their families.

Window Displays

A "Candle Light to Electric Light" theme was carried out by Athens businessmen in decorating their windows for the Cutler Hall weekend.

In a tableau in one window, Gen. Rufus Putnam, one of the three men who surveyed the two townships of college land and laid out the site of Athens and the university, appeared with his assistants in a wilderness setting.

Nearby was a window in which Manasseh Cutler, "Father of Ohio University," was shown sitting at his desk envisioning the development of the school. The vision was depicted on a back drop on which was painted a large picture of Cutler Hall.

Phil R. Swanson, '46, Athens, a commercial artist, designed the settings for both of the windows described above.

In another window there was an authentic replica of a room in West Wing (McGuffey Hall) which was occupied by Dr. T. R. Biddle, '91, now senior member of the Ohio University Board of Trustees, and the late Rev. Dr. Elmer A. Dent, '88, in their student days. An "Old Maid" stove, an oil can with a potato-stopped spout, a wash bowl and water pitcher, a loaf of bread and canned goods from home gave realistic touches to the display.

Copies of early editions of the famous McGuffey Readers, a tall "stovepipe" hat, and other mementoes of Dr. William Holmes McGuffey, Ohio University's fourth president, were featured in another display.

Dr. Solomon Howard, sixth president, was shown presenting diplomas to two Civil War veterans who were attracted to the university by scholarships given in each county in the state following the war.

Manasseh Cutler's "Travelling Trunk"

The desk and chair, a combination chair and ladder for use in his library, and other onetime possessions of the late Dr. Charles W. Super, were used in a window decorated in memory of Ohio University's eighth president.

Depicted in other windows were episodes in the lives of other Ohio University personalities as well as displays contrasting the activities of early-day students with those of the young men and women of the present day.

Cutler and Beach Gifts

Heirlooms of unusual interest were presented as gifts to Ohio University by two Cutler descendants. A hide-covered "traveling trunk," made by Manasseh Cutler in 1788 in preparation for his first journey from Ipswich, Mass., to the Ohio settlement in Marietta, was given by Gen. Charles Gates Dawes, Evanston, Ill., a former vice president of the United States. Letters written by Manasseh Cutler to his son, Ephraim, one of which instructs the latter to make a contribution of $20 to help defray the cost of constructing the building which now bears his name, were the gift of Mrs. Mary Dawes Beach, a sister of General Dawes and also of Evanston.

Metropolitan Exhibit

A collection of oil paintings loaned by New York's Metropolitan Museum of Art was hung in two of the first floor rooms of Cutler Hall.

The group of ten early American originals, by artists whose careers paralleled the early years of the university, included both portraits and landscapes of historic and artistic importance. A day and night guard was maintained by the university during the stay of the pictures in Athens.

In the loan exhibit were portraits of "Robert Gallatin" and "William Eustis," early American statesmen, by Gilbert Stuart, famed portrayer of Washington.

There was a "George Washington" portrait in the Metropolitan exhibit, however. This picture, by James Peale, soldier, patriot, and miniaturist of colonial America and brother of the better-known Charles Wilson Peale, attracted perhaps the most attention of any of the loan group.

Two other pictures that were viewed with exceptional interest were the portraits of "Lafayette" by Rembrandt Peale, best known of Charles Peale's large family of artistic children, and "Henry Clay," rated best of the works of Samuel F. B. Morse, who, besides inventing the telegraph, made a fortune by portraying the country's leading personages.

Other Exhibits

Other exhibits of historic and cultural interest were also displayed in Cutler Hall.

Through the cooperation of the Ohio State Archeological and Historical Society exhibits were secured from the Ohio State Museum, Columbus; the Campus Martius Museum and Marietta College, Marietta; the Cincinnati Museum of Art; and the Columbus Art Gallery.

Organized Alumni Activities

ALUMNI activities among the local groups during the month of November included the organization of a new men's club, a pre-game gridiron dinner, a dinner in honor of Ohio U. faculty members on retirement with emeritus rank, a dinner for President Baker, and a West Coast dinner dance.

Youngstown Bobcats

At a rousing "stag party" held November 13 by 60 men of the Youngstown area at the Ohio Hotel in the Mahoning County metropolis, a Bobcat Club of Youngstown was organized with an election of officers for the coming year.

Dean of Men Maurel Hunkins, the Alumni Secretary, and George A. Banks, '29, O. U. Fund man, were present from the campus to enjoy this initial meeting of the men's group. Football movies and informal talks, with ample quantities of refreshments, made up the program.

Temporary officers, David Howland, '21, chairman, and Delbert L. Kehl, '32, secretary, were succeeded, following the election, by Clarence A. Covington, Jr., '38, as president, and D. Ben James, '43, Niles, as secretary. The first three named are residents of Youngstown.

Dayton

Forty some members of the Dayton chapter enjoyed a "Kick Off Dinner" at Suttmiller's, a new and popular restaurant, on the eve of the Dayton-Ohio football game.

Assistant Football Coach Kermit A. Blosser, '32, pinch-hitting for Head Coach Wise; Neil D. Thomas, '22, assistant professor of civil engineering and official football photographer (with some football and campus movies); Mr. Banks; and—yes—the Alumni Secretary, were guests.

Arrangements for the dinner were made by C. Everett Weimer, '41; Irma F. Zuroweste, '46; Carl S. Mallow, Jr., '38; and J. D. Murch, Jr., '42. Dean E. Baesel, '42, and Lois E. Hook, '41, are president and secretary, respectively of the Dayton organization.

An informal Christmas party will be held by the Daytonians on Dec. 19 at the home of Mrs. Lee Eiler (Frieda Morel, '21, 2-yr.) in Oakwood.

Cleveland Bobcats

Only Thomas N. Hoover, '05, of the Ohio University professors emeriti, was able to be present as a guest of the Cleveland Bobcat Club at its meeting Nov. 18 at the Hickory Grill. Illness in the cases of Prof. L. J. Addicott, Dean T. C. McCracken, and Dr. W. F. Copeland, '02, prevented their being present, while Dean E. W. Chubb, Dr. Hiram Roy Wilson, '96, and Dr. I. E. Ash were unable to go to Cleveland for various but acceptable reasons. Dr. J. P. Porter is now living in Danville, Ill.

Professor Hoover, university historian, who related anecdotes and other bits of lore from Ohio U.'s early history, was accompanied by Joshua R. Morton, '05, senior member of the faculty in point of service, and by Alumni Secretary Williams. Professor Morton conveyed the greetings of his faculty colleagues.

Canton

On the same night, Nov. 18, as the Cleveland dinner 25 members of the Ohio University group in Canton met for dinner at "The Pines," a suburban restaurant, with President John C. Baker and Mr. Banks as their campus guests.

Besides the two Athenians, Chapter President Robert H. Marriott, '29, called on Wayne Jackson, '28x, for a speaking contribution to an informal program. Mrs. Earle Zinn (Laverne Matthew, '28) is the chapter secretary.

An age span of 60 years was represented in the attendance, the oldest guest present being George W. Reed, '88, Uhrichsville, who helped organize the first Ohio University alumni chapter, and an undergraduate who will receive his diploma in 1948.

A meeting of Cantonians is scheduled for Jan. 7 at which time an election of officers will be held.

San Francisco

A number of San Francisco alumni attended a Thanksgiving Dinner Dance, Nov. 28, in the Redwood Room of the Commissioned Officers' Mess at the Naval Shipyard on Hunter's Point. Dancing was enjoyed to music of Joe Brigandi and his orchestra.

The president and secretary, respectively, of this West Coast chapter are William H. Keplinger, '25, and James Claymore, '42.

Treasurer Resigns Position

ANNOUNCEMENT has been made of the resignation of George C. Parks, '08, as treasurer of Ohio University and the appointment of Controller Paul R. O'Brien, '32, in his place.

A member of the Ohio University staff since 1904 when he joined the faculty as an instructor in commerce, Mr. Parks is continuing as business manager and secretary of the board of trustees.

Mr. Parks left the university in 1918 to become associated with a local business concern. He returned in 1922 as treasurer and business manager, remaining in that position until this fall. He has been board secretary for the past 25 years. In earlier years at the university he was also graduate manager of athletics.

Before coming to Ohio University in June, 1946, Mr. O'Brien was employed as an examiner in the state auditor's office in Columbus.

Homecoming Celebration Attracts Record Crowd

ALTHOUGH it has long since gone into the record books Ohio University's 1947 Homecoming celebration, November 1, rates a mention here because it was attended by probably the largest crowd of grads and former students in the history of the annual fall event.

An effort was made to get the returnees to register their presence at desks set up in Cutler Hall, but, as usual, cooperation was far from complete, only some 450 persons signing registration cards.

Visitors were recorded from 13 states, including Massachusetts, Connecticut, New York, New Jersey, and New Mexico.

On Court Street and at dormitories, fraternity and sorority houses, and Ohio Stadium, however, there was no lack of evidence that the homecomers were back in large numbers.

Coming hard on the heels of a two-day session of the Southeastern Ohio Education Association, the homecoming weekend provided local restaurant and hotel owners with plenty of problems. Hundreds of undergraduates who dutifully gave up beds and other comforts for the benefit of visiting friends also felt the pinch.

For one of the few times in its history Ohio Stadium was filled for the feature event of the day—the gridiron meeting of the University of Cincinnati Bearcats and the Ohio University Bobcats. This time the visitors went home with the fur, winning by a score of 34 to 0.

President and Mrs. Baker had as guests in their box at the game President and Mrs. Raymond Walters of the University of Cincinnati; Dr. David E. Reese, president of the Mid-American Conference; and Senator Albert L. Daniels, chairman of the Ohio Senate finance committee.

Presented by the Alumni Secretary, President Baker

greeted the stadium crowd at the beginning of the between-halves ceremonies which included special shows by Ohio's 120-piece marching band and the visitors' band from Cincinnati.

The weekend opened on Friday night with the traditional Pep Rally and Bonfire which were followed by a large number of privately-sponsored social events.

On Saturday morning the Float Parade attracted a crowd which stopped traffic throughout the center of the city and overflowed Court, Union, and College streets.

The prize-winning float (see picture) of Phi Kappa Tau depicted the hanging and funeral of Lucius Quintus Cincinnatus. It was designed in somber black with dark-garbed pallbearers marching along to funeral music.

In native make-up the Alpha Phi Delta "safari" displayed a catch of Bearcats in a huge cage to capture second honors. Phi Delta Theta's hospital scene, "Operation Cincinnati — OU Takes Cincy Apart," was awarded third place by the judges.

For the first time in many years there were no floats entered by women's organizations.

First award for house decorations went to Alpha Phi Delta for its animated "Bobcat Laundry." Theta Chi was second and Phi Delta Theta third.

Shirley Kietzman, Columbus, Zeta Tau Alpha candidate, was chosen Homecoming Queen by the varsity gridders.

Homecoming Day closed — officially — with a repeat performance of the Historical Musical Pageant by the Men's Glee Club before an audience that filled Alumni Memorial Auditorium and a Carnival and Dance, sponsored by the Women's Recreation Association in the Men's Gym.

The Bobcat Sports Review

By Bob Finley, '43

PERHAPS, from gazing at the final won and lost column of the Bobcat football team, one would surmise that this year's record of three won, five lost, and one tied, was not too satisfactory. This view would be less firmly held, however, by those who saw the final tilt with the powerful Xavier eleven.

Going into this fray after five straight setbacks and a tie, the Green and White definitely was given only an outside chance of knocking off the Musketeers who previously had conquered Bowling Green, tied powerful Miami, and lost a close decision to Cincinnati 27-25.

The Bobcats had given notice the previous week at Dayton, when they battled the Flyers to an 18-6 loss, that they were not the pushover supposed by some. True, the Wisemen had only gained a 7-7 tie with Ohio Wesleyan, when a victory seemed in sight; and a disappointing Homecoming game with Cincy had resulted in a 34-0 drubbing. But with all this in mind, the Bobcat followers flocked to the stadium hoping against hope for a close game and a possible upset in the season's finale.

A loyal student body was not disappointed. After a scoreless first half, in which the Ohioans fought the Xavier machine to a standstill, the Bobcat combine came to life in the third quarter and with Stefan, Brady, and Sudnick sparking the drive, hammered deep into Musketeer territory and finally sent King Brady over from the two-yard line with the first six points. Sudnick's kick was wide and Ohio led 6-0.

Moments later, with the ball in Ohio's possession, on their own 8-yard line, third and six for a first down, Chris Stefan calmly stepped four yards into his own end zone and prepared to kick out of danger. Then it happened. . . as the ball was snapped, Chris faked the kick, took off around his own left end and continued to skirt down the sidelines. At the forty he appeared to be boxed in, but beautiful blocking sent him cutting into the middle of the field and the Dayton boy found himself in the clear at the fifty. From this point he romped the remaining distance to pay dirt untouched. Stefan, 185-pound senior halfback from Dayton, had reeled off the longest run ever seen in Ohio Stadium, 104 yards. This gave Ohio a 12-0 lead.

Ohio's 120-Piece Band in a Familiar Formation

Xavier came back and produced 7 points but could not push over another tally before the final gun.

For the second year in a row King Brady, O.U. halfback, was honored by the Associated Press in being named to the third team halfback post on its All-Ohio selections. Much credit is due Brady since he was hampered during the early part of the season by rib injuries incurred in pre-season practice. Last year this brilliant broken-field runner was named to the first team All-Ohio mythical eleven.

Also included in the All Ohio selections were Chris Stefan, back; Gene Ruskowski, tackle, and Ed

Zednik, guard, each of whom was given an honorable mention rating by the AP.

Zednik, who played 60-minute "iron man" roles in each of Ohio's contests, was named to the first team guard position on the All Mid-American Conference eleven. "Zip," a senior this year, will be sorely missed when Coach Wise calls for guard aspirants next fall.

In the 1947 season Ohio's victories were scored against Ohio Northern, 34-0; Butler, 14-7; and Xavier, 12-7.

Its defeats were at the hands of Bowling Green, 2-0; Western Reserve, 21-7; Miami, 21-0; Cincinnati, 34-0; and Dayton, 18-6. A 7-7 tie game was played with Ohio Wesleyan.

Basketeers Off To Good Start

UNDEFEATED in their first three cage tilts, Ohio University's Bobcats to date have displayed a hard fighting, never-say-die, brand of basketball.

Coach "Dutch" Trautwein has come up with as spirited a group of ball players as has ever graced the Ohio U. hardwood. Lacking height and depending on speed and aggressiveness, the Bobcats have successfully dropped Dayton, Marietta, and Xavier. In the opener at Dayton, Trautwein's starting lineup consisted of five lettermen: Dick Shrider, Glenford, and Mark Wylie, Gibsonville, at the forwards; Bob Dickey, Lancaster, at center; and Gene Kinsley, Hartville, and Harry Gordon, Cleveland, at the guards. Spelling this starting five were such veterans as Bob Johnson, Athens, Gene Gyurko, Toledo, and Harry Lamb, Lancaster. Although the Bobcats fought an uphill battle all the way against the Flyers, the outcome was a 46-40 victory for the Athenians. Shrider was high point man with 13, while Johnson dropped in 10.

The following Friday, Ohio played host to the Pioneers from Marietta and inhospitably drubbed them 63-44. Shrider again lead with 19 markers, while Bob Dickey dropped eight field goals through the mesh for 16 points.

With the first two games safely in the bag, Trautwein prepped his cohorts for the fast-moving Xavier quintet which invaded Athens with the enviable record of three wins and no setbacks, one of the wins being a one-point victory over highly-rated Purdue.

In a rough, hard-fought encounter from the start, Ohio trailed the Musketeers for 34 minutes of the ball game. Relinquishing a 5-3 advantage after four minutes of the first half, the Bobcats never regained the lead until diminutive guard Gene Kinsley, with two minutes to go, stole the ball and passed off to Dick Shrider who sent the Green and White ahead 51-49. Seconds later, Kinsley intercepted a Musketeer pass and sent a push shot through the meshes for a four-point advantage which held throughout the remaining minute and a half.

The deciding factor in Ohio's favor came from the free throw line, as they dropped in 25 of 33 attempts.

For the third time Dick Shrider, Ohio's classy forward from Glenford, was high scorer with 21 markers. This brought his total to 53 and a game average of 17 plus.

Also bringing joy to the hearts of Bobcat followers was the play of big Gene Williams from Portsmouth. Inserted in the game when Dickey went out via the foul route, Williams came through with six quick points just when the going was the toughest.

The play of Gerry Ruoff, Mt. Healthy sophomore, and Bobby Johnson, Athens junior, left nothing to be desired. These two boys promptly filled in when vitally needed and Johnson's 11 counters contributed greatly to an Ohio victory.

On Dec. 19 the Bobcats will tackle

Bowling Green State, a powerhouse in Ohio and national basketball. However, with such reserves on hand, and the first five playing a hard-fighting, heads-up game to the last bucket, the future contests of the season do not look too dark to Ohio University followers.

Men on the varsity quad not previously mentioned are: Tom Dill, Groveport; Phil McKown, Wooster; Herb Pollock, Columbus; Eddie Schott, Cleveland; Jim Shreffler, Woodville; Chris Stefan, Dayton; and Paul Whyte, Nelsonville.

Heavy Schedule For Grapplers

OHIO UNIVERSITY'S wrestling team, again under the direction of Thor Olson, faces one of the most potent schedules in O.U. history this year when it meets such teams as Michigan, Ohio State, West Virginia, and Kent State.

Headed by four members of last year's squad, Coach Olson has 12 men grappling for positions. The returnees include Dick Stack, 128 pounds, from Cleveland; Johnny Kulezenka, 145, Bellaire; Pete Puhar, 155, Elyria; and "Zip" Zednick, a Cleveland lightweight who has been moved into the heavyweight class this year.

Among the newcomers are Eddie Turner, Parkersburg, W. Va., and Tom Morgan, Mansfield, both vying for the 136-pound vacancy.

In the 121-pound class are Elmer Davis, Coshocton, and Bill Miller, Columbus; while two Mansfield boys, Paul Sauder and Bill Stomps, are competing for a place in the 165-pound class.

Wally Schultz, halfback on the football team, and George Risser, Williamsfield, are the 175-pound contenders.

The schedule: Jan. 10, Michigan, away; Jan. 17, Ohio State, at home; Jan. 21, Waynesburg, away; Jan. 31, Bowling Green, away; Feb. 7, Western Reserve, at home; Feb. 12, West Virginia, away; Feb. 14, Case, at home; and Feb. 28, Kent, at home.

Swimmers Prepare For Season

AS OHIO'S OPENING swimming meet approaches, Coach Frank Ritchey is rapidly rounding into shape his group of natators, who dive into action Dec. 17 at Kenyon College.

Ritchey, in his first year at the helm of the OU mermen, will launch a crew of swimmers led by veteran Phil Cook, 100, 440, and breast stroke stylist. In the 440, Cook will be aided by Jim Smith and Bill Earley.

Art Kern, Bob McIlvain and Jim Wilbraham will double in the 50 and 100-yard sprints. Kern and Wilbraham will also participate in the diving events.

Ritchey will use Art Langmead, Norm York, and Bill Whipple, a former A.A.U. champion at Pasadena, Calif., in the back stroke events. Distance men include veteran Jerry Smith and newcomers Harry Snavelly, Al Milnar, and Jim Smith.

Five Basketeers Counted on To Make Good Showing During Current Season

Here and There Among the Alumni

1870

In 1890, 20 years after his graduation, DR. PHILIP ZENNER returned to a reunion of his classmates at Ohio University and in a class history expressed the amazement of all that 20 years could have elapsed since they had received their sheepskins. For Dr. Zenner many more years have now gone into the record books. A retired physician and neurologist of Cincinnati, he is the oldest living graduate of the university. Of his classmate, William B. Carpenter, Dr. Zenner said at the 1890 reunion, "He was a tremendous blower on a big glass horn contrived by himself. It was said that when he blew his horn at night the cows around Athens emitted sounds of terror, the old women put their night-capped heads out of the windows to inquire if the day of judgment had come, and the next day William would be called before the faculty and get twenty demerits." Mr. Carpenter was quoted as having stated that his father allowed him the privilege of going to work or to school. "Of the two evils," he said, "I preferred the latter."

1873

Alumni Office efforts to learn the whereabouts, if still living, of CHARLES H. DIXON, A.M. '76, and WILLIAM G. JUNOD '82, thus far have been to no avail. Information concerning these two gentlemen will be welcome for office records and by onetime friends who have inquired about them.

1894

Enjoying the "sunset years" is WALTER J. BOTHWELL, a resident of Monterey Park, Cal., who retired in 1938 after 30 years of service in the Los Angeles post office.

1897

The recent receding of Cutler Hall brought back memories to E. REY "COBBY" LASH, ex. retired druggist of Athens. He remembers when students had living quarters in the old Center Building (now known as Cutler Hall). "I still have a candle with which a student crammed for chemistry in 1870 in a room on the northwest corner of the second floor," he recently reported to MRS. HAZEL BAIRD FINSTERWALD, '16, society page editor-columnist for the Athens Messenger. "Of course," he added, "some had coal oil lamps, but those who did were high-brows, aristocrats. . . those were the good old days when they had no gas, no water piped indoors, no conveniences. A line of coal houses extended from near East Wing (now Wilson Hall) south about 100 yards. One winter the Phi Delt neglected to lock their coalhouse door and consequently furnished the Deltas all their coal for free."

JAMES W. McLAREN, ex. one of the most outstanding of Ohio University's early-day football players, was in Ohio Stadium November 1 when the Bobcats met the tough University of Cincinnati

Bearcats in the 1947 Homecoming tussle. Now a resident of Hockingport, he gets back to the campus frequently. When an all-time, all-star gridiron team was selected in 1937 "Pete" McLaren was named to the fullback position on it. In describing the gridiron sport of 50 years ago (1897) Mr. McLaren recently related that the first game was played against the University of Cincinnati and took place in Chillicothe. Chillicothe was selected as a half-way point because the players had to buy their own uniforms and equipment and pay their own expenses. Cincinnati won that one 12 to 0.

JOHN M. COOLEY, 2-yr., and Mrs. Cooley (EDNA CAMPBELL, '07, 2-yr.) are residents of Lynn Haven, Fla., where the former is service superintendent of the Gulf Power Co. The Cooleys have a son, Clifford, currently enrolled at their alma mater. Mr. Cooley is a brother of C. ERNESTINE COOLEY, '10, a retired librarian, also of Lynn Haven.

1906

A gentleman farmer is MANNING G. COULTRAP. A resident of Chillicothe, he owns and operates one of Ross County's fertile and productive farms. He is a brother of DR. FLOYD E. COULTRAP, '04, a Toledo physician; DON C. COULTRAP, '08, Columbus rector; and of Mrs. William Long (FRIEDA COULTRAP, '03x), Long Beach, Calif. All of the foregoing are children of the late FLETCHER S. COULTRAP, '75, A.M. '79, who was principal of the Preparatory School at Ohio University from 1907 to 1914 and professor of the art of teaching from the latter year until his retirement in 1924. Professor Coultrap died in 1941.

MRS. EMMA RAYBOULD BATTIN, 2-yr., housemother at Slattery Cottage and for many years cashier in the Ohio University Treasurer's Office, is back in Athens after a four months' visit with relatives in England and Scotland. On the return trip she flew from the airport at Prestwick, Scotland, to LaGuardia Field, New York. Mrs. Battin was fortunate in being admitted to the palace of Edinborough, but had to view London's Buckingham Palace from the outside. Other interesting places visited were Shakespeare's home at Stratford-on-Avon, Oxford University, and Westminster Abbey.

Having retired last June from his position as professor of education at Ohio State University, FREDERICK C. LANDSITTEL, M.S.Ed. '12, is now free to travel and enjoy life without the restrictive routines of the classroom—and he is doing just that. With Mrs. Landsittel, he is currently visiting a daughter in Seattle, Wash., and after Christmas will fly to Hawaii for a visit to that island "paradise." Professor Landsittel was a member of the Ohio University faculty from 1912 to 1919.

REV. JAMES A. LONG has assumed the pastorate of the Christian Church in Nelsonville following a ministry of nine years in the church of his denomination in Sidney and a pastorate of similar length in Dayton. Prior to that he had served churches in Wilmington, Ohio, and Indianapolis, Ind. An Ohio University romance resulted in the marriage of Reverend Long to Miss BESS NYE, '12x. The Longs have four daughters and two sons, one of them being MARCELLA LONG, '34, M.Ed. '38.

In an interesting letter from DR. LOUISE PRICE (see picture), counselor in the Department of Personnel Service, Brooklyn College, Brooklyn, N. Y., she writes: "On page 15 of the October Alumnus you say that MARGARET BOYD registered as 'M. Boyd to conceal her identity from the male students who were opposed to the admission of women. I have heard this story differently. . . As a child, I lived for several years on Congress Street opposite Margaret [Ohio University's first woman graduate] and Lucy Boyd whom I remember as interesting and charming 'old ladies'. . . As I heard the story then, it was not the men students who were 'conservative' but the faculty. Margaret Boyd had two brothers who were Betas—and the Betas championed and campaigned for the admission of women. . . The Boyd brothers and other Betas were largely instrumental in helping Margaret register. They went to class with her, and a Beta sat on each side of her to insure the safety of their 'cause.' At first, she did not speak in class—was merely a silent auditor. . . Please, Clark, do not malign those Beta boys by saying they opposed the education of women."

J. V. DONLEY is the Southwest District manager of the Pittsburgh-Des Moines Steel Co., with headquarters in Dallas, Texas. Mr. Donley, or "Jiggs" to his friends of campus days, was a classmate of CAPTAIN HUGO C. FISCHER (see Class of 1937 note) and a civil engineering major at Ohio University.

school at Huntington, W. Va., has reported that she and MRS. LUCILLE HARELAN TARRY, '17, 2-yr., "spent part of a day in Athens last summer—just long enough to get thoroughly homesick for 'the good old days.'" Mrs. Tarry is active in church, Y. W. C. A., and woman's club work in the West Virginia city.

A new book, "College Physics," by Dr. JOHN G. ALBRIGHT, head of the department of physics at Rhode Island College, Kingston, R. I., has just been published by The Ronald Press. Dr. Albright was for many years a member of the faculty of Case Institute of Technology in Cleveland.

1917

DR. RAYMOND M. CLARK was named director of graduate instruction at Kent State University when that position was created a year ago this fall. Dr. Clark, husband of the former BROOKS SHIELDS, '16 2-yr., was professor of psychology at Kent State prior to being chosen for the directorship, and served as acting president of the university for a period.

DR. CLARENCE H. GROWDEN, a former Ohio University psychologist, is director of research at the Ohio Bureau of Juvenile Research in Columbus. The bureau's staff consists of the executive psychologist (a position held until recently by Dr. CLAIR H. CALHOUN, '22), 14 clinical and consulting psychologists, two psychiatrists, five special teachers, and four social workers.

Allen R. Kresge (see picture), husband of the former FRANCES WRIGHT, 2-yr., and father of EUGENIA A. KRESGE, '45, teacher in Chesterland, a Cleveland suburb, is now in his 34th year as a member of the Ohio University School of Music faculty where he teaches piano and organ. He has studied at the Applied School of Music in New York, the American Conservatory of Music in Chicago, and the Boston Conservatory of Music. In the picture, Prof. Kresge is shown at the console of the newly-rebuilt organ of the First Methodist Church in Athens where he has been organist for the past 28 years.

MRS. CANDUS MACE MARTZOLFF (see picture), widow of the late Dr. CLEMENT L. MARTZOLFF, '07, M.Ped. '10, recently observed her 80th birthday at her home in Athens. An assistant librarian at Ohio University for 16 years, retiring in 1938, and an active civic worker until recent years, Mrs. Martzloff still takes a keen interest in local and world affairs. Her husband, who joined the Ohio University faculty as an instructor in history in 1907, served as part-time alumni secretary from 1908 until shortly before his death on August 5, 1922. He held a full professorship in history after 1917 and for several years prior to that was director of extension work. Mrs. Martzloff is an aunt of Mrs. Fred H. Sands (CONSTANCE ANDREWS, '29), secretary of the College of Arts and Sciences at Ohio University.

former Varsity "O" griddier, and was at one time vice president and treasurer of the New York Joint Stock Land Bank. He joined the Prudential organization in 1935 as farm property manager and was attached to the home office staff in Newark, N. J. He went to Minneapolis in 1945. He is married, his wife being the former ISABEL MCCANN, '23x.

ELIZABETH J. HERBERT, a Cleveland high school teacher, will be one of the limited number of guests at the wedding of her brother, Governor Thomas J. Herbert of Ohio, when it takes place in Indianapolis on Jan. 3. Governor Herbert and Miss Helen Stevenson of Indianapolis will be married in a ceremony witnessed only by members of their immediate

G. HAROLD MARTIN, an attorney and civic leader in Ft. Lauderdale, Fla. for the past 21 years, will take office on January 1 as district president (Florida) of Kiwanis International. He is a former lieutenant governor of his district and in 1946 was chairman of the International Committee on Sponsored Youth Organizations. He served as a municipal judge in his city for two terms and last spring was voted by students of a local high school as one of three "Best Citizens" of Ft. Lauderdale, a community with a population of 30,000. His wife is the former MARGERY YOUNG, '21. They have a daughter, and two sons. The older son, Jack (see picture), received an honorary, non-political appointment to West Point based on a brilliant all-round record at Culver Military Academy. At West Point he lead his class this fall in physical fitness and efficiency, played right half-back on the freshman football squad, and was selected for membership in the academy band, choir, and glee club.

families and Governor and Mrs. Ralph W. Gates of Indiana.

HELEN LAVERTY, who has been an arthritic cripple and confined to her home in Athens for many years, was recently flown by ambulance plane to Ottawa, Ill., for treatments in the Ottawa Arthritic Clinic. The trip originally planned to be made by automobile, had to be called off because Miss Laverty could not stand the ordeal of that mode of travel. John Jagers, local undertaker, solved the problem and gave his passenger the thrill of a lifetime when he put his plane at her disposal.

Friends of IRENE L. DEVLIN, A.M. '35, an educational counselor for Western College for Women at Oxford, will be happy to know that she is recovering satisfactorily from serious injuries suffered late in October when her automobile went off the road on a steep Monroe County hill. The mishap was occasioned by a broken axle and the consequent loss of a wheel. She suffered a broken leg in addition to other leg, body, and face abrasions. Miss Devlin was executive secretary at Ohio University for many years prior to taking her present position with Western College.

After teaching home economics in her home schools of Hontington, W. Va., for 20 years, LENA L. ROE was forced to retire two years ago because of a heart condition. Busy, nevertheless, Miss Roe has developed quite a home knitting business. So popular are her products that it is necessary for her to refuse Christmas orders after July 1.

"St. Henry, a town of some 561 persons in Mercer County," reports the sports editor of the Athens Messenger, "has the enviable record of sending six boys into professional baseball, and one of the men responsible for their development is ALOYSIUS J. COLLINS, a former resident of this city. Collins, head of the St. Henry schools, spiked a trend toward softball among the schools of Mercer County back in 1940 and talked school officials into a baseball league that ultimately paid off with six potential big leaguers." Superintendent Collins has been associated with the St. Henry schools, as high school principal and superintendent, since 1930. Incidentally, a St. Henry high school student was the third-place winner in the state-wide history contest staged at Ohio University in connection with the recent Cutler Hall Rededication Program.

MARY L. MERCER, a onetime psychologist at the Ohio Bureau of Juvenile Research in Columbus, is now a vocational counselor in the Veterans Guidance Center at the University of Washington in Seattle where she has interviewed 541 veterans during the past three months.

Mrs. Carl Apuli (MARY ELLEN MOORE), a former physical education teacher in the Youngstown schools, is now a reporter on the staff of the Youngstown Vindicator.

GORDON MORROW, editor of the Well-ton Sentinel, a Jackson County daily, has recommended Mayor James A. Rhodes of Columbus to his readers as a suitable candidate for the state auditorship on the Republican ticket next year. This is the only major state office not now held by a Republican.

JOHN K. RUSS, who has been teaching and coaching in Youngstown since the year of his graduation, is now instructor in biology at Rayen School and serving as director of athletics for the General Fireproofing Co. He and Mrs. Russ are the parents of five children.

MARIANA E. BING has been appointed assistant director of service in veterans hospitals at the American Red Cross national headquarters in Washington, D. C. With the Red Cross for more than five years now, Miss Bing recently completed a course of study at the Western Reserve University School of Applied Science in Cleveland, which she attended on an ARC scholarship. She is a former assistant chief of the ARC personnel training unit. Her new assignment will deal with the programs in the 114 Veterans Administration hospitals staffed with Red Cross field directors. A graduate in music, Miss Bing has taught at William Woods College, Fulton, Mo., and in the Athens County schools.

RALPH J. ZAHOUR, principal of Extension High School in Cleveland, recently was elected president of the Schoolmasters Club of Greater Cleveland, succeeding GEORGE E. SEEDHOUSE, '30, assistant recreation commissioner of the joint city-school board recreation program in Cleveland. Russell H. Rupp, principal of Shaker Heights High School and former principal of Athens High School, was named to the executive committee of the Schoolmasters Club. Mr. Rupp, who is also a veteran Western Conference football official, has been selected as referee for the Rose Bowl game in Pasadena between Michigan and Southern California.

BERNARD E. HUGHES resigned his position last summer as professor of health and physical education at New York University to become director of physical education at the University of Colorado, Boulder. Director Hughes was an instructor in physical education at Ohio University for four years, 1933-37. Another Ohioan in the same professional field is HOWARD G. DANFORD, '28, who has given up the physical education directorship in the public schools of Madison, Wis., to become director of health and physical education at Florida State College, Tallah assee. Mr. Danford is a former member of the safety education staff at New York University and prior to that had been director of recreational activities in Kansas City, Mo., and in Lima, Ohio.

MARION F. YENNEY, vice president of the Engels-Krudwig Wine Co., has been named commodore of the Sandusky Yacht Club and will take office on January 1. Commodore Yenney is a cousin of Mrs. Harvey Stratton (DOROTHY YENNEY, '26 2yr.), Sidney.

1931

DR. RALPH R. BROWN is director of

Cadet Jack Martin
(See Class of 1921 Notes)

United Industrial Services in Cincinnati. A psychologist, he is a consultant to industry. Dr. Brown has visited his alma mater twice during the past few months interviewing men for the American Oak Leather Co. His wife, DR. THELMA GRUBB BROWN, '30, is the psychologist at Longview State Hospital (for the insane) in Cincinnati.

THE REV. ROBERT E. LEAKE, A.M., '33, pastor of St. Alban's Episcopal Church, Bexley, is one of the newly-named members of the board of managers of the Columbus Gallery of Fine Arts. On this board appear the names of some of the most prominent civic leaders in Columbus.

CARL E. CAMPBELL, coach at the high school at Whitehouse, near Toledo, for the last two years, was named principal of the school this fall. He will also continue as coach of athletics. Mr. Campbell and his wife, the former ROSE SHAY, '26, A.M., '36, live in the adjoining community of Waterville, where the latter is an instructor in the high school.

O. H. FARRAR, M.Ed., '39, was elected president of the Ohio High School Principals' Association at a meeting in Columbus in October. He is principal of the high school at Defiance and held a similar position in the high school at Mt. Glead from 1937 to 1944. His wife is the former OLIVE LYKE, '32.

Mrs. Irvin H. Brune (DOROTHY MOSER) is a mathematics teacher in Mansfield's Johnny Appleseed Junior High School.

CHARLES E. BLACK, JR., who has been with the Burroughs Adding Machine Co. for the past ten years, has recently been promoted to a position as department supervisor at the company's home office in Detroit. Mrs. Black is the former KATHRYN WASSEN, '33x. His brother, HUGH K. BLACK, '40, is a Burroughs sales representative located in Washington, Pa.

Edward N. Wise
(See Class of 1937 Notes)

He, too, married an Ohioan, HELEN E. HALLER, '42x.

1934

ARTHUR E. CORNWELL has been named to succeed GERALD F. STAUFFER, '41x, as director of men's housing at Ohio University. In addition, he will assist Mrs. Cornwell (DELIA DORSEY, '34) in the management of a new children's apparel shop in Athens, "Cornwell's Shop for Toddlers, Tots, and Teens." Mr. Cornwell, manager of Hotel Berry for several years, has been with the FPHA regional office in Troy since his return from two years of service as a naval officer.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Hattle (ESTHER WOODDELL, 2-yr.) of Lucasville, are the parents, by adoption, of a five-year-old boy, James Albert. "Jimmie" came into the Hattle family on October 31, 1947.

COMDR. HERBERT J. HARTMAN, ex. with Mrs. Hartman (AMABELLE HALLER, '33), and their three children, has returned from a year and a half of Navy service in the Philippines and has been assigned as public works officer at the naval air station in Corpus Christi, Texas. In the Pacific, he was assistant public works officer at the Sangley Point Naval Air Base near Manila.

N. WILFORD SKINNER and Mrs. Skinner (OLIVE DAVIDSON, '37) are in Madison,

Wisc., this year where the former is on a leave of absence from the faculty of the German department of the University of Richmond (Va.) for graduate work at the University of Wisconsin. He acquired an A.M. degree at Indiana University in 1937.

At the tenth annual convention of the Pennsylvania Women's Press Association held in Harrisburg in October MELLIGENT HAZZARD, a reporter for the Washington (Pa.) Observer, received the 1947 News-writers Award, a trophy given to the woman each year whose work has been deemed most outstanding. Miss Hazzard's entries won first place in each of three competitive groups—general news, society news, and editorial comment.

JEANNETTE CAMPBELL joined the Home Service Department of General Mills in Minneapolis, Minn., early this year to be in charge of the company's newly-formed audio-visual education department, which includes radio, television, movies, and personal demonstrations. For the preceding seven and one-half years Miss Campbell had been home service director of the Minneapolis Gas Light Co. and food editor of the Minneapolis Daily Times.

EDWARD N. WISE, M.S. '38 (see picture), holds one of those positions out in Los Alamos, N. Mex., about which, for security reasons, he cannot even tell his wife, the former RUTH ELLEN CLARKE, '36. Nothing more may be said (indeed, nothing more is known by the editor) than that he is associated with the University of California group of scientists who are working on atomic energy problems and applications at the New Mexico center. A former science instructor in the high school at Gallipolis, he was supervising chemist for the General Chemical Co. at Pt. Pleasant, W. Va., during the war years, and in 1945 went to the Battelle Memorial Institute in Columbus to engage in graphic arts research. The atomic researcher is a brother of Ohio University's head football coach, HAROLD E. WISE, '28. Mr. and Mrs. Wise have two children, Barbara Ann, 7, and Beverly Sue, 2.

MAX DAVIS is a civil engineer in the Bridge Branch of the War Department's Engineer Research and Development Laboratories at Ft. Belvoir, Va. He is concerned with the development of new types of fixed and floating military bridges. In a recent letter he tells how, on Thanksgiving Day, 1945, he and Mrs. Davis (MARGARET PANCAKE, '42) had invited the duty officer of the day for dinner at their quarters at the Boston Navy Yard. After dinner CAPTAIN HUGO C. FISCHER, '17, a Navy civil engineering officer, and Mrs. Fischer, dropped in for a social call and the five persons present eventually got around to discussing events of their undergraduate days. "Suddenly," Mr. Davis writes, "we discovered that Captain Fischer, Mrs. Davis, and I had all attended Ohio University. Not to be outdone, Mrs. Fischer and the Duty Officer discovered that they had both attended the University of Wisconsin. So we had what might be called a family chat from there on." Captain Fischer is the engineer for the First Naval District and also for the Boston Shipyard. The Davises have a daughter, Martha Beth, now 18 months old.

For the REV. EDWARD W. W. LEWIS, A.M. '41, who lives in Rye, N. Y., and is minister of the Central Park Baptist Church in New York City, "leisure time" must be spelled with extremely small letters. During recent months he has been recognized by being elected vice president of the Baptist Regional Ministers Conference of New York, secretary of the Ordination Council of Southern New York State, president of the Westchester County Coin Club, and chairman of the Old Oak Farm Ministers and Missionaries Conference. Also, he is still president of the East Manhattan Ministers Interdenominational Conference. One day this fall he went to Wilmington, Del. to see the Washington and Lee football team, coached by his brother, ART LEWIS, '36, defeat the University of Delaware team, 18-13.

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd C. Anscombe

DR. CHESTER E. EVANS, a consulting psychologist in Detroit, Michigan, was quoted recently in the Detroit Free Press on the matter of the lowered hem lines for women's skirts. The Detroitier believes that women know exactly what they are doing when they accept the new long-skirt style. "They may be fooling men," he was quoted, "but they don't pretend to fool themselves. Men are not so much interested in seeing a lot of woman exposed." When asked to back up this statement Dr. Evans replied, "When they go to a bathing beach, men don't pay too much attention to the women there, despite the fact that some of them are quite—ah—generous. After all, the more clothes you put on a woman, the more appealing she becomes. I'm surprised that more men do not openly concede this." (Any opinions expressed on this page are not necessarily those of the editor—Ye Ed.)

DOROTHY E. DUNCAN, who has been employed for the past five years as home service director for the Southern Counties Gas Company of California, has resigned her position to become home demonstration agent-at-large with the Agricultural Extension Service of the University of California. In her new capacity she will have headquarters in Berkeley, but will travel extensively over the entire state.

JOHN ORPHAN and Mrs. Orphan (FLORA LOUISE JUETT, '38), with their young son, Nicholas "Nicky" Juett, are now living in their new home in Covington, Ky. Mr. Orphan is a sales representative of the Fairfield Distributing Co. of Louisville.

The U. S. Navy recently counted up its John Paul Joneses and announced that it had 13 men now in service bearing the name of the great naval hero of the Revolutionary War. One of the 13 is LT. COMDR. JOHN PAUL JONES who is now in Production Policy Branch, Material Division, Office of the Under Secretary of the Navy, Washington, D. C. He was recently transferred from the New London Group, Atlantic Reserve Fleet and U. S. Submarine Base, New London, Conn.

Mrs. OWEN H. SMYTH (EILENE HOWARD), who resides in Arlington, Va. and has a secretarial position with the Reconstruction Finance Corporation in Washington, D. C., writes that "I have just discovered that I am working right next to an O. U. graduate, Mrs. C. H. PARR. She was back in Athens this past August for her son's graduation and has brought me up to date on a good many things." Mrs. PARR, widow of the late CHARLES HAMILTON PARR, '17, 2-yr., is the former ROSALIND UNKEFER, '18. The son, ROBERT H. PARR, '47, is now associated with the Prudential Insurance Company in Cleveland.

CHET ADAMS, a stellar tackle on Bobcat football teams of nearly a decade ago and now playing professionally with the Cleveland Browns, and JOHNNY KERNS, '47, of last year's eleven now playing with the Buffalo (N. Y.) Bills, opposed each other in the tackle positions in a Cleveland-Buffalo game on November 2. Tackle KERNS, who married FAY RADMAN, '47X, and is the father of a four-months-old youngster, expects to return to Ohio University for graduate work during the second semester of the current year.

When BRUCE R. BLAKE read in the June ALUMNUS of the appearance of a book, "How to Get a Husband," by MRS. SUE HOLMAN PAYER, '37, he wrote immediately to the author to find out how he was "got." Bruce, an announcer on the staff of Akron's radio station WHKK, married an Akron young lady in November, 1946.

ROBERT H. NICHOLSON, who has the distinction of being the only man who has ever received a degree in home economics at Ohio University, is now director of food training in the School of Hotel and Restaurant Management at the University of Denver. He has recently supervised the establishment of a new cafeteria with a seating capacity of 400. His wife, MRS. ELIZABETH NICHOLSON, is also a Class of 1940 graduate. The Nicholson's have a year-old daughter, Carol Leigh.

EMERSON HOUF has been granted a year's leave of absence by the State of Ohio Division of Forestry to complete graduate work for a degree in the School of Forestry at the University of Michigan. Mr. Houf has been engaged in negotiations for the purchase of land for a conservation project near Athens. Mrs. Houf (ROSEMARY McHALE, '40) and their little son, Thomas Paul, are with Mr. Houf in Michigan.

BIERMAN was assigned to the Minneapolis office of the Minneapolis-Honeywell Regulator Co. as a sales engineer in the industrial division. Mr. Bierman received the degree of Bachelor of Science in Industrial Engineering at Ohio University.

Bernard D. Osborne, who has been assistant coordinator of veterans affairs at Ohio University, resigned his position as of November 30 to accept a position in Columbus with the Mutual Benefit, Health and Accident Association.

ALFRED L. HAGELBARGER is principal of the high school at Plainfield and his wife, (ELEANOR EINHEIT, '41), is teaching commerce in the same school. We suppose that Al is boss during school hours and that thereafter he yields authority to the "missus."

RUTH ELLEN LINDSEY has a secretarial position with the Cleveland architectural and engineering firm of Cutting & Ciresi.

J. J. ROLLINS and his classmate-wife, the former BETTY L. MAHAN, are residents of Cleveland's suburban Shaker Heights. The former is an accountant downtown with Uebel & Monroe, Inc., an accounting firm, while the latter is manager of the Garfield High School cafeteria.

R. M. RICE, who will receive a master's degree in fine arts from Ohio University at the end of the current semester, gave his graduation recital in Alumni Memorial Auditorium on December 7. He returned to the campus in 1945 after three years of Army service and resumed his post as concertmaster of the University Symphony Orchestra. He is also a graduate assistant in music. His wife, a former officer in the WAVES, is a senior at Ohio University.

JOHN E. BAILEY, JR., and Mrs. Bailey (DOROTHY ROADS, '44X), with John E., III, now 18 months of age, are residents of Washington Court House where Mr. Bailey is engaged in the automobile business as a Chrysler-Plymouth dealer.

VIVIAN C. BEVAN is plant cashier for the Owens-Illinois Glass Co. in Columbus.

SOL KALICHMAN is a member of the editorial staff in New York City of the soon-to-be-revised Theatre Magazine.

LT. NORMAN W. OFSLAGER is a photographic officer in the U. S. Navy, stationed in Philadelphia.

HARRY PYBUS is an accountant with the Boots Nut Aircraft Corp. in Stamford, Conn.

DUANE R. KELLER, a former Army engineer in overseas service, is now an instructor in engineering mechanics at the University of Alabama.

1943

BETTY JANE COURTNEY (see picture) was one of only 14 girls admitted to the Yale Divinity School this fall. An honor graduate at Ohio University, she entered the eastern institution on a scholarship and will seek the Bachelor of Divinity degree in furtherance of her work in the field of religious education. She was for four years assistant minister of the Lakewood Christian Church, Lakewood; was state president of the Christian Youth Fellowship in 1942-1943; co-chairman of the National Christian Youth Fellowship in 1943; and president of the Ohio Christian Youth Council, made up of all Protestant denominations, in 1944. She is the daughter of the REV. GILBERT B. COURTNEY, '23X, and Mrs. COURTNEY, Chauncey. Her sister, ISABEL COURTNEY, who received the Bachelor of Fine Arts degree in 1946 and the Bachelor of Science degree one year later, is now teaching music in the Tipp City public schools.

The picture of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd C. Anscombe (GERTRUDE EINHEIT) which was promised for reproduction this month will be found on page 17. The young couple was married July 1, 1947, in "The Little Church of the West," Nevada's famous chapel on the desert near Las Vegas. Both Mr. and Mrs. Anscombe are teaching in high schools in Los Angeles, Calif.

WILLIAM F. BYERS is engaged in development work in radio instruments for the General Radio Co. in Cambridge, Mass. He taught electrical engineering at Ohio University in the summer session following his graduation. The bulletin of the 10th annual Boston Hamfest contains as its first technical article a story with the title "A Very Stable Variable Frequency Oscillator" which was authored by Mr. Byers.

Mrs. George Cozma (VIOLA GEORGE-SCU), business manager of Vaughn Hospital, East Vaughn, N. M., traveled one of the longest distances of all those who attended the recent Homecoming celebration on Nov. 1. She was recently elected secretary-treasurer of the New Mexico Osteopathic Auxiliary. She is also president of the Vaughn Girl Scout Council.

DR. CHARLES F. JVIDEN, who graduated in medicine from Ohio State University and interned at the general hospital in Fresno, Calif., has become associated with a Dr. Chamberlain for the practice of medicine in McArthur.

FRED G. ORTNER, JR., A.M. '45, is a vocational counselor with the General Employment Service, a private organization, in Cleveland. Counselor Ortner reports that in his work he has come in contact with a number of Ohio University men, both as employers and as applicants.

Mrs. Gayle A. Riegel (HELEN McCORD) is serving as a laboratory technician with the Anchor-Hocking Glass Corp., in Lancaster.

ELEANOR PECKHAM, daughter of Prof. H. H. Peckham of Ohio University's English department, is assistant to the loan officer of the Bank of Silver Spring, Silver Spring, Md.

BETTY J. FEEZEL, a reporter and feature writer on the staff of Editor and Publisher in New York City, has returned to her home in Cleveland in order to be with her parents. To keep herself busy she is editing The Halle Bulletin, the house organ of Halle Bros., Cleveland's big department store.

Since going to Faribault, Minn., two years ago as a new bride, Mrs. Norman Wendt (LILLIAN SWORT) has been working as advertising manager of Ochs Bros. Department Store. Mrs. Wendt prepares all newspaper layouts, writes copy, prepares direct mail letters, and helps in the planning of other promotional activities. Her husband is music supervisor in the Faribault schools.

Poetry from the pen of DALE L. VAN METER is to be found in "Important American Poets and Songwriters of 1947," a book which was published this fall by Valiant House. Mr. Van Meter was granted the Bachelor of Sacred Theology degree by the Boston University Graduate School of Theology last January and is now on the faculty of Lafayette College, Easton, Pa.

Mrs. Howard S. Sorgen (GERTRUDE ASTON) is teaching the third grade in the Clearstream Ave. School in Valley Stream, L. I., N. Y., while her husband is completing his senior year in the College of Pharmacy at Ohio State University.

EDITH E. MERCER is teaching commercial subjects in the high school at Miamisburg, a community near Dayton and the location of a Monsanto Chemical Corp. plant reportedly engaged in atomic energy activities, much to the dismay of the citizens who fear that in case of war they will be a "preferred" target for enemy bombers.

ELIZABETH KRECKER, who has a Bachelor of Music degree from the Eastman School of Music in addition to her A.B. from Ohio University, is teaching voice in the Conservatory of Music at Heidelberg College, Tiffin. She taught for one year at St. Catherine's School for Girls, Richmond, Va., and last year was a teaching assistant in the English department at Ohio University while studying toward a master's degree in voice. She is the daughter of Dr. F. H. Krecker, chairman of the department of zoology at Ohio University, and Mrs. Krecker.

MALCOLM L. "MAC" BAAS (see picture) whose prominence on the Ohio University campus was attested by the fact that at one time or another he held the presidencies of the Student Council, Men's Union Planning Board, Torch, and Wesley Foundation, is now pursuing graduate work and serving as a dormitory counselor at Purdue University. He took a three months' trip through Canada and western United States following graduation.

MARILYNN I. MILLER is assistant director of the Y Teen Department of the YWCA in Akron.

A discouraging and expensive mishap occurred late last month when the garage which FRED SCHLEICHER, JR., uses for his furniture upholstery business in Athens was gutted by flames from a fire which apparently started from a heating stove. His loss included most of the furniture on hand and his equipment. Fred, a former member of Bobcat gridiron, track, and wrestling teams, is engaged in graduate work at Ohio University, and, with his wife and two children, lives at 63 Home St.

KENNY WALTERS, the Bobcats' leading point-maker in basketball for the last two years, is now playing "pro" basketball with the Zanesville Pioneers. He started the season with a Louisville, Ky. team but soon found himself without a job when the Professional Basketball League of America broke up. In his first start with the Zanesville quintet he tallied 17 points in an exhibition game against the famed New York Celtics. BOB BRANDLE, '47, another Bobcat basketballer from last year's team has a position as a chemist with the Koppers Company, Inc., in Monaco, Pa.

HELEN L. BURTON is a junior accountant in the New York office of Price Waterhouse and Co., a firm of accountants with offices in the principal cities of the country. Miss Burton is one of but few girls to be given staff positions by this company, a fact which is a compliment both to her and to Ohio University's College of Commerce.

EDWARD DE ROBERT and STUART J. PIKE, Ohio University classmates, are now roommates at Syracuse University, Syracuse, N. Y., where the former is pursuing graduate work in the field of economics, and the latter is a graduate student in geology.

Miss Waxler was a sister of the late Mrs. George W. Campbell (ZADEE WAXLER, '23, 2-yr.).

Deaths

HENRY H. HUMPHREY

HENRY H. HUMPHREY, '84, A.M. '87, died Dec. 22, 1947, at his home in St. Louis, Mo. He was 85 years of age.

Mr. Humphrey was widely known as a consulting electrical and mechanical engineer. A past vice president of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers, he was listed in "Who's Who in America," "Who's Who in Engineering," and the "International Blue Book."

The distinguished Ohioan was born near Coolville, Ohio, and was a brother of LEWIS HUMPHREY, '94x, Hockingport, and of CALVIN B. HUMPHREY, '88, who died last summer, and SHEPARD S. HUMPHREY, '92, who died in 1944.

Mr. Humphrey attended Cornell University in 1885-86, receiving an M.S. degree in the latter year.

Prior to engaging in general consulting work in 1900, he had been associated, in responsible capacities, with Westinghouse, Buffalo Light & Power, Edison General Electric, and the St. Louis Electrical Supply Co. He designed many large electrical installations in the United States, and also the complete plant of the De Beers Explosives Works in Cape Town, South Africa.

He was assistant construction engineer on an alternating-current central power station at Carbondale, Pa., the second in the country, and took part in the experimental work for the Hoosac Tunnel at North Adams, Mass. He supervised the installation of all electrical work on the "Midway" of the Chicago World's Fair in 1893.

Mr. Humphrey married Miss Louisa Richardson, 'x, of Athens in 1887, and was the father of six children. The report of death did not mention the number of survivors.

GEORGIA HERBST NEELY

Mrs. GEORGIA HERBST NEELY, '17, 2-yr., aged 63, for 43 years a teacher in the Steubenville schools, suffered a heart attack on Aug. 2, 1947. After a period of hospitalization she returned to her home where she developed pneumonia from which she died on Sept. 16.

Mrs. Neely was a native of Steubenville and was one of the city's veteran and most highly respected teachers. Her last assignment was completed at Garfield School in June.

She is survived by a daughter, PHYLLIS E. NEELY, '39, A.M. '42, a teacher in Harding School, Steubenville.

CHARLES RAYMOND SNIDER

CHARLES R. SNIDER, '92, Seattle, Wash., a retired insurance man and former field deputy for the Washington State Tax Commission, died at the Masonic Home, Zenith, Wash., April 14, 1943. News of his passing was received only recently from JUDGE MALCOLM DOUGLAS, '09, of Seattle.

Mr. Snider was born in Perry County, Ohio, in 1867.

BERNARD AUSTIN GALLAGHER

Carried in Alumni Office records as "missing in action" until recently, a posthumous award of the Navy's Air Medal and a report from his father have resulted in the transfer of the name of LIEUT. BERNARD A. GALLAGHER, '42, Cambridge, to Ohio University's Gold Star Roster for World War II.

Lieut. Gallagher was a pilot in the air arm of Admiral Halsey's famed Third Fleet and is presumed to have been lost, Aug. 8, 1945, in an action about 180 miles east of Formosa.

Lieut. Bernard A. Gallagher

He was survived by his wife, the former ELLEN RIES, '43, now Mrs. James B. Jolley, Lansing, Mich., and a son, Timothy, who was born just two months after his father's death.

The Air Medal and a citation signed by Vice Admiral J. D. Price were presented to the father, Mr. I. A. Gallagher, in a ceremony held in Cambridge last month and attended by Navy representatives.

ELEANOR AUDREY CALLANDER

Another wartime death not previously reported to the Alumni Office is that of AUDREY CALLANDER, '36, Zanesville, who died at Pearl Harbor, Hawaii, Dec. 14, while serving as a civilian employee of the Navy Department. She succumbed to a brain tumor and was buried in the naval cemetery at Pearl Harbor. Before her assignment to the Naval Supply Depot at Pearl Harbor, Miss Callander had been stationed at military depots at Chanute Field, Ill., and Dayton. She was an instructor in physical education at Butler University, Indianapolis, Ind., prior to the war.

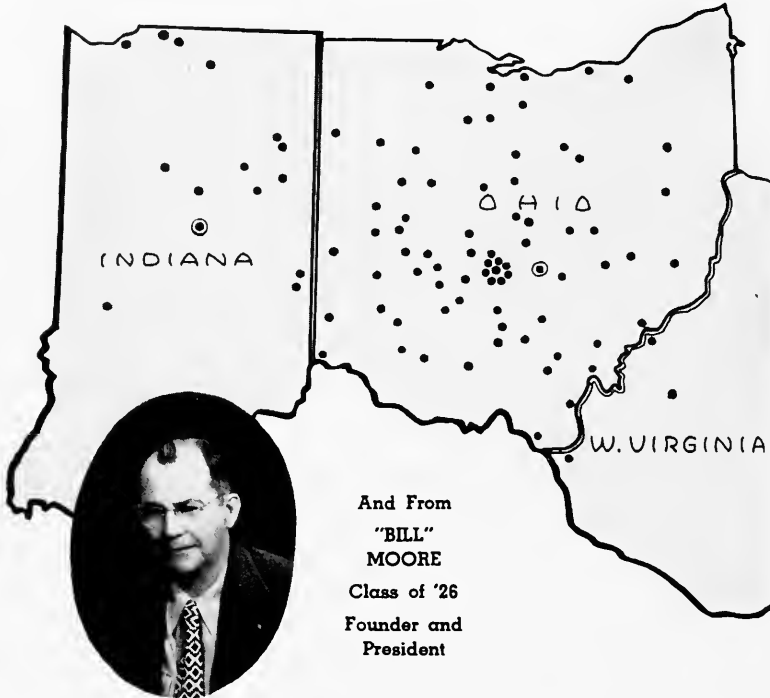

In October of this year the body of Miss Callander was returned to the States on the U. S. S. Honda Knot for reinterment in Zanesville. The Honda Knot brought to the United States the first shipload of overseas war dead.
